

Coalition for Western Women's History

2022 Armitage-Jameson Prize

Call for Applications

The CWWH is pleased to announce the thirteenth annual Armitage-Jameson Prize for the most outstanding monograph or edited volume published in western women's and gender history in 2021. The Prize is named in honor of Susan Armitage and Elizabeth Jameson for their pioneering work in the field of western women's history. To be eligible, the book must be published in 2021 and address women and gender in the North American West, which includes the relevant geographic regions of Canada and Mexico, as well as U.S. territories, past and present. The award recipient will receive $1000 and the publishing press will receive a certificate. The award will be presented at the CWWH Breakfast at the 2022 WHA annual meeting in San Antonio, TX, October 12-15, 2022. For more information, visit: www.westernwomenshistory.org

Deadline for the 2022 Prize Submission: June 1, 2022

Presses are limited to the nomination of five titles and should send one copy of the nominated book to each member of the committee by June 1, 2022. Books must reach all committee members by the deadline; late submissions will not be considered. Applicants should verify committee mailing addresses with your publisher for timely arrival of your book by the deadline. Hard copies are preferred by the committee.
